Thank You

As your new County Councillor, Andy Pellew is pressing for a 20mph speed limit on Northfield Avenue.

King's Hedges resident Andy Pellew has been elected as this area's new County Councillor.

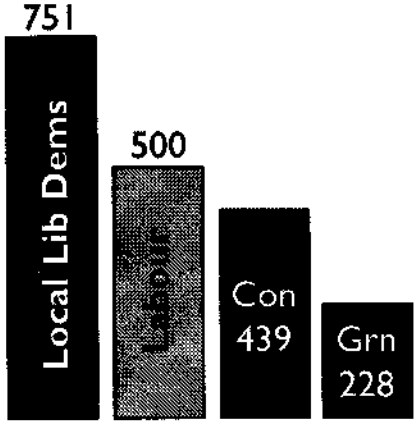
Andy beat Labour in the election in June, with the Conservatives and Greens coming third and fourth again.

Until 2006, King's Hedges had always had Labour councillors, but now the area has four Lib Dem representatives working all year round, not just at election time.

A fair deal for local residents

Andy and the team are campaigning with local MP David Howarth to get a fair deal for King's Hedges residents who lose millions of pounds a year, taken by the Labour government in rent to spend in other cities around England.

The election result here



The Conservatives are 3rd and cannot win here in King's Hedges

Cambridge MP David Howarth and Lib Dem MEP Andrew Duff.

Andrew Duff is campaigning for more jobs to be created in the Cambridge area, providing high-tech answers to the problem of climate change.

Our local MEP Andrew Duff was re-elected to the European Parliament on 4 June. He told FOCUS:

"Many thanks to all those Cambridge residents who voted for me as their MEP. I met many people in the campaign who wholly agree with the Lib Dems that Britain is better off inside a stronger European Union. I am proud to represent them once again in Brussels and Strasbourg as the EU makes its important contribution to economic recovery, combating climate change and reforming our politics".

Mr Brown cuts millions from Cambridge transport & schools

Millions of pounds promised to Cambridge for schools and transport has been cut by the Labour government.

The money is needed to fund new schools, transport links and infrastructure in areas where thousands of new houses are being built.

But in mid July, Labour announced that £6 million was to be spend elsewhere.

The Lib Dems don't want these new houses built without proper facilities and better transport links.

Lib Dem MP David Howarth is leading the protest to the government, urging them to change their mind.

Congestion in Cambridge will get much worse if the Labour government forces thousands of new houses to be built but doesn't provide the money for better public transport.

Cambridge MP David Howarth is battling to defend Cambridge's long-term quality-of-life from housing developments messed-up by Labour's broken promises.

"The Labour government is not giving Cambridge a fair deal," said Mr Howarth.

"The government is demanding that thousands of extra houses should be built here, but it has broken its promises to fund the necessary improvements to public services and public transport in this area."

I want to help the Lib Dems in Cambridge
